ITEM 4: ADVISORY BUSINESS

A. Firm Description

Eggerss Capital is currently registered with the SEC as an investment adviser. The Firm originally became registered in February 2010. Karl Eggerss is the sole owner of the firm.

B. Types of Advisory Services

Eggerss Capital provides investment advisory and consulting services to individuals, trusts, estates, corporations, and non-profits. Investment advice and portfolio management services are provided on a continuing basis, which includes the appropriate allocation of managed assets among cash, stocks, bonds, mutual funds and alternative investments. This selection of specific securities will provide proper diversification and help meet the client's stated investment objectives. These services include discretionary management services.

Eggerss Capital currently utilizes seven investment strategies when managing client accounts. These strategies, and a brief description of each, are as follows:

Conservative Income

This strategy is for those seeking income in pursuit of higher returns than liquid savings accounts. Some volatility is expected, but anticipated to be less than a diversified bond index, such as the Barclay's Aggregate Bond Index. Various bond funds and short-term fixed income instruments may primarily be used and turnover in this strategy is very low. Risk is managed by blending together a combination of funds or securities with complementary risk exposures to reduce volatility.

Bond

This strategy is designed for those seeking a steady stream of income. The main type of vehicle used in this strategy will be individual bonds. However, various bond mutual funds and bond Exchange Traded Funds ("ETF's") may be used to hedge some of the risk of the bonds and for overall diversification. Several different maturities and individual securities will be used. Moderate volatility may be experienced at times.

Income

This strategy is designed for those seeking a steady stream of income. Growth is a secondary consideration and turnover will be low to moderate. Several types of securities including bonds, Real Estate Investment Trusts ("REITs"), preferred stocks, Exchange Traded Funds ("ETF's"), stocks, Master Limited Partnerships ("MLPs"), Business Development Companies ("BDCs") and mutual funds may be used in this strategy to achieve the goal of income.

Moderate volatility may be experience at times, but less than what would be expected for traditional stock or growth-oriented strategies. Risk is primarily managed by blending together a combination of funds or securities with complementary risk exposures to reduce volatility. Higher levels of cash can be raised and inverse ETFs may also be used at times.

Growth

This strategy is designed for those seeking growth through capital appreciation. Income is not a consideration. A fundamental and technical approach will be taken in determining the types of investments which will be bought and sold. Several types of securities including stocks, ETFs, mutual funds, and REITs, MLPs, and BDCs may be used. Turnover will be moderate to high. Volatility similar to common stock market indices may be experienced at times. This strategy may use higher levels of cash and inverse ETFs at times to manage volatility.

Dividend Plus

This strategy is designed to deliver a steady stream of dividend income (mostly qualified for income tax purposes), annual income growth and capital appreciation by blending stocks with high dividend yields and a history of dividend growth. A fundamental and technical approach will be taken in determining the types of securities which will be bought and sold. Several types of securities including stocks, ETFs, mutual funds, and REITs, MLPs, and BDCs may be used. Turnover will be low to moderate. Volatility similar to common stock market indices may be experienced at times, but historically this style of stock investing generally has experienced less volatility than broad stock market indices.

Please note that there is no guarantee that any dividends will be paid. Dividends are paid at the sole discretion of the individual companies.

Aggressive Growth

This strategy is designed for those seeking maximum capital appreciation. Income is not a consideration. A fundamental and technical approach will be taken in determining the types of investments which will be bought and sold and holding periods may be extremely short. Primarily, ETFs will be used in this strategy, but other securities such as individual stocks, mutual funds, REITs, MLPs, and BDCs may also be used. Turnover in this strategy can be high. This portfolio can be riskier than our other strategies. This strategy may use higher levels of cash and inverse ETFs at times to manage volatility.

Multi-Asset

This strategy is designed for those seeking long term growth with volatility managed by taking a balanced approach and diversifying among several different asset classes. No individual securities will be used, but rather diversified exchange-traded funds or mutual funds. The portfolio will be rebalanced when appropriate as assets classes drift from their targets or as ECM sees fit within each client's investment policy statement (IPS). As such, turnover will be low to moderate; depending on market volatility as greater volatility will increase the benefits of rebalancing. Volatility is expected to be greater than diversified bond portfolios, but less than diversified stock portfolios.

On a case-by-case basis, when appropriate for the Client, Eggerss Capital may also recommend the purchase of alternative investments. These alternative investments could be held outside the Client's portfolio with Schwab, Fidelity, or TD Ameritrade. ECM receives no compensation on these recommendations.

Options may be used to complement existing strategies. An option is a contract that gives the buyer the right, but not the obligation, to buy or sell an asset (such as a share of stock) at a specific price on or before a certain date. An option, just like a stock or bond, is a security. An option is also a derivative, because it derives its value from an underlying asset.

"Covered calls" will primarily be the strategy used when using options, in which we sell an option on security the client owns. In this strategy, the client receives a premium for making the option available, and the person purchasing the option has the right to buy the security from you at an agreed-upon price.

Options will be used on a client by client basis and will primarily be used in the Dividend Plus Strategy.

Financial Planning

Eggerss Capital also provides financial advisory planning services including comprehensive financial planning, fact-finding, goal setting, estate planning strategies, wealth distribution and plan implementation services. Planning services will be summarized by a written plan for the client, which reflects the client's current financial circumstances, financial outlook and personal objectives. Hourly charges are negotiated ($200-$300 per hour), depending on the scope of work. Plans range from $500 to $10,000 based on a client's individual circumstances and how many hours it will take to complete the plan. A separate financial planning services contract is executed with each client using this service. An initial deposit of half of the total fee will be required upon executing this contract, with the balance due upon presentation of the plan to the client. A client may rescind this contract within five business days of execution and any deposit is refundable. If the client chooses to have the investment adviser representative implement the financial plan, the investment adviser representative will establish a fee-based account for the client on a case-by-case basis.

Consulting - Non-Discretionary Consulting Services

Eggerss Capital provides the following additional services:

- Asset Allocation; Risk Modeling; Money Manager Research; Mutual Fund Research;

Alternative (or Illiquid) Investment Research; and Continual Monitoring and Due Diligence.

Eggerss Capital will generally provide non-discretionary consulting services for a fee, based upon a percentage of the client's assets for which consultation is provided. In addition, clients will pay all account fees, custodian fees, and mutual, closed-end, and exchange-traded fund expenses. Clients will incur brokerage and other transaction costs associated with any direct transaction.

Retirement Plan Services (Institutional)

Regarding Corporate Retirement Plan accounts, ECM begins with an analysis of the current retirement plan structure, custodian, third party administrator, daily record keeper, investments, managed investment models, and fees. The analysis is designed to determine if ECM is able to add value to the plan and what areas, if any, may be deficient from both a regulatory perspective and from a financial advisory perspective. The services offered to clients are as follows:

- Plan design and asset selection consultation
- Review plan sponsor's stated financial criteria for each investment option
- Provide investment research and performance information on investment options
- Investment option replacement guidance
- Personal consultations with the plan sponsor as necessary
- Fiduciary due diligence assistance
- Annual Fiduciary Plan Review
- Participant education, guidance, and enrollment
- Vendor coordination assistance
- Benchmarking services

ERISA Fiduciary Services

The Adviser provides advisory services, which include providing retirement Plan Sponsors or other plan fiduciaries ("Plan Sponsors") investment advisory and management services by assisting plans in establishing and/or maintaining a consistent and ongoing documented process of prudent oversight and due diligence. The Adviser provides services to clients that sponsor a retirement plan that is qualified under the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended (the "IRC") and/or subject to the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974 ("ERISA"). Services may include benchmarking, plan design strategies, analysis, fiduciary consulting and oversight, plan level investment advice and investment fund selection and monitoring services, and some employee education services.

The Adviser does not act as, and has not agreed to assume the duties of, a Plan trustee or the "Plan Administrator," as defined under section 3(16) of ERISA nor as trustee as described by SEC Rule 206(4) The Adviser has no discretion to interpret the Plan documents, to determine eligibility or participation under the Plan, to provide participant disclosures or communications, to ensure contributions are timely received by the Plan or to exercise any other action with respect to the management, administration or any other aspect of the Plan.

The Adviser's services are offered to assist plan fiduciaries as they carry out their investment related responsibilities and these services should not substitute for or diminish the careful deliberation and determination of plan fiduciaries, after appropriate consultation with their other professional advisers and the review of relevant plan documentation.

Non-Discretionary 3(21) Fiduciary Services

When the Adviser performs "3(21) Fiduciary Services," the Adviser will act as a co-fiduciary "investment adviser" that provides "investment advice" as defined under Section 3(21) of ERISA. Under this arrangement the Adviser is appointed by the plan sponsor or trustee to determine a recommended lineup of investments to be included in the Plan. These recommendations are presented to the Plan Sponsor, who has the ultimate responsibility to accept or reject the recommendation. The Adviser will not have any further responsibility to communicate instructions to any third-party, including the custodian, and/or third-party administrator.

The Adviser offers the following 3(21) services:

- Investment screening
- The selection of replacement funds to which existing Plan balances may be transferred
- Assisting clients to finalize a Plan's investment lineup of funds available for investment by Plan participants and used for other administrative purposes under the Plan
- Plan review meetings – including review of Investment Funds

The data used to select the investment options is based on estimated, forward-looking performance of various asset classes and subclasses to create our forward-looking capital markets assumptions (e.g., expected return, expected standard deviation, correlation, etc.). Past performance and the return estimates of the asset classes and the indices that correspond to these asset classes may not be representative of actual future performance. Actual results could differ, based on various factors including the expenses associated with the management of the portfolio, the portfolio's securities versus the securities comprising the various indices and general market conditions. Before a specific investment is selected, other factors such as economic trends, which may influence the choice of investments and risk tolerance, should be considered.

Discretionary 3(38) Fiduciary Services

When a client engages the Adviser to perform "3(38) Fiduciary Services", the Adviser acts as an "investment manager" (as defined in Section 3(38) of ERISA) with respect to the performance of discretionary fiduciary investment services. Under this arrangement the Adviser is appointed by the Plan Sponsor or trustee and accepts discretion over plan assets and assumes full responsibility and liability for fiduciary functions concerning decisions related to the plan assets.

Under this arrangement the Adviser is appointed by the plan sponsor or trustee and accepts discretion over plan assets and assumes full responsibility and liability for fiduciary functions concerning decisions related to the plan assets. The Adviser will review the investment options available to the Plan through documents provided by the Plan Sponsor and notifies the Plan's record-keeper and/or the Plan Sponsor the Adviser's instructions to add, remove and/or replace these specific investment options offered to Plan participants and/or used for administrative purposes under the Plan, according to the criteria set forth in guidelines selected by the Plan Sponsor. The Plan Sponsor retains all authority, responsibility and decision-making for investment options not available on the Plan record-keeper's platform (i.e., "non-core" investment options, such as employer stock, plan loans, self-directed brokerage accounts, frozen guaranteed investment contracts, and life insurance).

The Adviser will retain final decision-making authority with respect to removing and/or replacing investments in the core lineup.

The data used to determine the investment options is based on estimated, forward-looking performance of various asset classes and subclasses to create our forward looking capital markets assumptions (e.g., expected return, expected standard deviation, correlation, etc.). Past performance and the return estimates of the asset classes and the indexes that correspond to these asset classes may not be representative of actual future performance. Actual results could differ, based on various factors including the expenses associated with the management of the portfolio, the portfolio's securities versus the securities comprising the various indexes and general market conditions. Before a specific investment is selected, other factors such as economic trends, which may influence the choice of investments and risk tolerance, should be considered. The Adviser has the responsibility and authority to determine the investment line up including evaluating investment managers and mutual fund companies, individual mutual funds, and money market funds which may be retained or replaced.

The Adviser will also monitor the current managed investment line up including the investment's performance compared to an applicable benchmark. If the Adviser determines that a fund no longer meets the criteria, they will select alternatives and replace them.

C. Client Tailored Services and Client Imposed Restrictions

Eggerss Capital tailors its advisory services to each individual client based upon the client's financial risk profile. Clients may impose guidelines or restrictions on certain types of securities or investments but such restrictions must be provided in writing.

D. Wrap Fee Programs

Eggerss Capital does not sponsor or manage a wrap fee program.

E. Assets Under Management

As of December 31, 2017, the Firm had approximately $145,941,116 in assets under management in 180 clients (households) consisting of 438 individual accounts.

ITEM 5: FEES, COMPENSATION AND TERMINATION OF SERVICES

A. Description of Compensation and Basic Fee Schedule for Asset Management

Assets Under Management fees range from 0.25% to 1.50% annually. Client circumstances and needs are considered in determining the appropriate fee schedule. These include, among other factors; the complexity of the client, level of assets under management, anticipated future assets, related accounts and portfolio composition. Advisory fees are billed quarterly in advance. We may negotiate our fees at our sole discretion.

Employee related accounts and certain other accounts may be charged a fee that is less than outlined above depending upon a number of factors, including portfolio size, length of employment and relationship to the employee.

The client pays Eggerss Capital for its investment management services based upon the client's assets under management as negotiated. Quarterly management fees are calculated by multiplying the assets under management by the relevant percent and dividing such product by four. Accounts opened in mid-quarter will be assessed at a pro-rated management fee.

B. Description of Compensation and Basic Fee Schedule for ERISA Accounts

The standard fee schedules for the Non-Discretionary 3(21) Fiduciary Services and Discretionary 3(38) Fiduciary Services programs (the "Programs") are as follows:

All account sizes are 0.75%

You may also incur fees related to your use of outside service providers including third-party administrators and record keepers. The fee schedule for each outside service provider varies dramatically from service provider to service provider. The service provider's fees will also vary from plan to plan as each plan's structure and characteristics are different from the next.

We believe our services help plan sponsors and plan fiduciaries meet their fiduciary duty to the plan and its participants. As a part of our services, we review the fees of service providers and the transparency of their fees. We will assist the plan sponsors with a review of service providers including the third-party administrator, daily record keeper, and custodian to ensure that their services, along with ours, remain competitive to alternatives that are available.

C. Payment of Fees

Fees are payable quarterly, in advance, and such fees are generally deducted from client's account(s) within 30 days following the beginning of the quarter for which said fees will be incurred.

All fees for the management of alternative investments or 401(k) plans will be deducted from one of the Client's brokerage account at Schwab, Fidelity, or TD Ameritrade, not from the actual investment account.

D. Clients Are Responsible for Fees Associated with Investing

Client shall be responsible for payment of all ticketing or other transaction costs incurred from the purchase and sale of Securities under this Agreement. Such costs are not included as part of the Advisory Fee (as defined above). Any other transaction costs shall be noted on the trade confirmations. To the extent mutual funds are selected to fill components of the overall investment strategy, the annual advisory fee set forth above does not include the customary fees and expenses associated with investing in mutual funds or other costs of establishing and maintaining an account with mutual funds including Rule 12b-1 fees and expenses. The client is advised that, in addition to the annual advisory fee set forth above, each mutual fund in which assets are invested will incur separate investment advisory fees and other expenses for which Client will bear a proportionate share.

E. Prepayment of Fees

The Advisory Fee for the initial quarterly period shall be prorated for the initial quarterly period, based on the opening date of the Account and the Net Asset Value of the Assets held in the Account on that date. The initial fee shall be due in full at the same time as the fee for the first full quarterly billing cycle is due. If a client chooses to terminate the advisory agreement in writing, the client will be entitled to a pro rata refund of any pre-paid quarterly fee, based upon the number of days remaining in the quarter after termination and the balance of the account on the day of termination. (It should be noted that Eggerss Capital reserves the right to deny a refund if the dollar amount of the refund is less than $10.00).

F. Other Compensation

The Firm does not accept any other compensation for its services other than the fees disclosed in this Brochure.

ITEM 6: PERFORMANCE-BASED FEES AND SIDE-BY-SIDE MANAGEMENT

Eggerss Capital does not charge any performance-based fees (fees based on a share of capital gains on or capital appreciation of the assets of a client).

ITEM 7: TYPES OF CLIENTS

Eggerss Capital provides investment advisory services to the following types of clients:

- Individuals
- High Net Worth Individuals
- Businesses
- Charitable Organizations

The minimum investment generally required by a Client is $250,000. Accounts below this minimum may be negotiated and accepted on an individual basis, as determined in the Firm's sole discretion. Eggerss Capital may from time to time establish, modify and waive account or investment minimums.

Eggerss Capital also provides services to:

- Tax-qualified retirement plans (both defined benefit and defined contribution) that are intended to receive favorable tax-treatment under section 401(a) or 403(b) of the IRC
- Non-qualified executive deferred compensation plans
- Other types of retirement plan types as may be introduced to the Programs.

ITEM 8: METHODS OF ANALYSIS, INVESTMENT STRATEGIES AND RISK OF LOSS

A. Methods of Analysis

Eggerss Capital will utilize such other information, as it deems appropriate for analysis, and in all cases, in compliance with federal and state security laws. Eggerss Capital also utilizes financial newspapers and magazines, research reports prepared by others, annual reports, prospectuses, filings with the Securities and Exchange Commission and company press releases, when determining which investment strategies to present to its clients.

Some of those strategies involve a top down approach using aspects, such as economic data, Federal Reserve policy, various sector strength, etc. From this point, the Firm will drill down to determine what type of security should be used to accomplish the goal, whether that's a mutual fund, stock, or bond, etc. Various competing securities are analyzed to determine strengths and weaknesses and risks. The final decision to buy or sell a security is typically determined using technical analysis. Eggerss Capital uses several tools to determine the correct entry point for a position. Owning individual securities may involve a risk to principal. Depending on the type of security, fluctuation may be high at times. Frequency of trades may impact a client's tax situation and profitability in the position, due to increased transaction costs.

As outlined under Advisory Business above, the Firm offers multiple investment strategies including Conservative Income, Income, Growth, Aggressive Growth, Dividend Plus, Options and Multi-Asset. As described therein, these strategies will employ various products and rates of turnover in order to achieve the risk return balance desired for each strategy. Investing in securities involves varying amounts of risk of loss that clients should be prepared to bear.

Individual securities are selected to provide diversification among economic sectors and industries, which are chosen to achieve the desired balance between expected risk and expected return. Transactions of an unusual nature are discussed with clients before execution.

B. Material Risks Involved

All strategies, to varying degrees, contain risks inherent to the investments utilized. Eggerss Capital's investment strategies may be subject to the certain risks based upon the securities utilized in managing the strategies. Many of the principal investment risks inherent in the strategies are discussed under Item 8 C below.

C. Risks of Specific Securities Utilized

All securities, to varying degrees, contain risks inherent to the investments utilized. Securities used by Eggerss Capital's investment strategies may be subject to the following principal investment risks due to the variety of investments utilized in each strategy:

Credit Risks – The risk that the portfolio could lose money if the issuer of guarantor of a fixed-income security, or the counter-party to a derivative contract, is unable or unwilling to meet its financial obligations.

Counter-Party Risks – A portfolio may incur a loss if the other party to an investment contract, such as a derivative, fails to fulfill its contractual obligation.

Currency Risks – The risk that foreign currencies will decline in value relative to the US dollar and affect a portfolio's investments in foreign (non-US) currencies or in securities that trade in, and receive revenues in, or in derivatives that provide exposure to, foreign (non-US) currencies.

Debt Securities Risks – The issuer of a debt security may fail to pay interest of principal when due, and changes in market interest rates may reduce the value of debt securities or reduce the portfolio's returns.

Derivatives Risks – The use of derivatives such as futures, options and swap agreements can lead to losses, including those magnified by leverage, particularly when derivatives are used to enhance return rather than offset risk.

Emerging-Markets Risk – Foreign investment risks are typically greater for securities in emerging markets, which can be more vulnerable to recessions, currency volatility, inflation and market failure.

Equity Risks – The risk that the value of equity securities, such as common stocks and preferred stocks, may decline due to general market conditions which are not specifically related to a particular company or to factors affecting a particular industry or industries. Equity securities generally have greater price volatility than fixed income securities.

ETF Risks – A portfolio will be exposed indirectly to all of the risks of securities held by an ETF.

Foreign Investment Risk – Foreign investments face the potential of heightened illiquidity, greater price volatility and adverse effects of political, regulatory, tax, currency, economic or other macroeconomic developments.

Fundamental Analysis Risk - Fundamental analysis, when used in isolation, has a number of risks:

- There are an infinite number of factors that can affect the earnings of a company, and its stock price, over time. These can include economic, political and social factors, in addition to the various company statistics.
- When using this method with mutual funds, the funds are composed of many companies and not all of them will be undervalued
- It is difficult to give appropriate weightings to the factors.
- It assumes that the analyst is competent.
- A fundamental analyst assumes that other fundamental analysts will form the same view about the company and buy the stock, thus restoring its value and returning the trader or investor a capital gain. In practice, an undervalued company's stock price can stay at approximately the same level (or decline) for years.

- It ignores the influence of random events such as oil spills, product defects being exposed, and acts of God and so on.
- It assumes that there is no monopolistic power over markets.
- Even when fundamental analysis reveals an undervalued company, or a stock with high growth prospects, it does not tell us anything about the timing of the purchase of the stock.

High-Yield Securities Risk – High-yield securities have a much greater risk of default or of not returning principal and tend to be more volatile than higher-rated securities of similar maturity.

Interest-Rate Risk – The risk that fixed income securities will decline in value because of an increase in interest rates.

Issuer Risk – The value of a security may decline because of adverse events or circumstances that directly relate to conditions at the issuer or any entity providing it credit or liquidity support.

Issuer Non-Diversification Risk – The risks of focusing investments in a small number of issuers, industries, or foreign currencies, including being more susceptible to risks associated with a single economic, political or regulatory occurrence than a more diversified portfolio might be.

Leverage Risk – The risk that certain portfolio transactions may give rise to leverage, causing the portfolio to be more volatile than if it had not been leveraged.

Liquidity Risk – A security may not be able to be sold at the time desired or without adversely affecting the price.

Market Risk – The market price of securities held by a portfolio may rapidly or unpredictably decline due to factors affecting securities markets generally or particular industries.

Mortgage- and Asset-Backed Securities Risk – These securities may decline in value when defaults on the underlying mortgage or assets occur and may exhibit additional volatility in periods of changing interest rates. When interest rates decline, the prepayment of mortgages or assets underlying such securities may require the reinvestment of money at lower prevailing interest rates, resulting in reduced returns.

Regulatory Risk – The risk that changes in government regulations may adversely affect the value of a security. An insufficiently regulated industry or market might also permit inappropriate practices that adversely affect an investment.

Short Sale Risk – The risk of entering into short sales includes the potential loss of more money than the actual cost of the investment, and the risk that the third party to the short sale may fail to honor its contract terms, causing a loss to a portfolio.

Private Securities Risk – Private securities contain the risks of their respective public securities, but these risks can be magnified due to their illiquidity and lack of public knowledge on the business. These securities are inherently riskier.

Real Estate Risk – The real estate market has experienced some large swings recently. Due to changes in interest rates, the lending market, economic policy, and supply and demand, in addition to illiquidity, real estate investments can carry a great deal of risk.

Options Risks – A risk of covered calls is that the option buyer does not have to exercise the option, so that if we want to sell the stock prior to the end of the option agreement, we have to buy the option back from the option buyer, for a possible loss.

Alternative Investment Risk - Investing in alternative investments may be speculative, may not be suitable for all clients, and is intended for experienced and sophisticated investors who are willing to bear the high economic risks of the investment, which can include:

- Loss of all or a substantial portion of the investment due to leveraging, short-selling or other speculative investment practices
- Lack of liquidity in that there may be no secondary market for the fund and none expected to develop
- Volatility of returns
- Absence of information regarding valuations and pricing
- Delays in tax reporting
- Less regulation and higher fees than mutual funds.

Eggerss Capital requires transaction confirmation and quarterly reporting. A written copy of the Firm's Code of Ethics is available upon request.

This Code of Ethics states, in part, "No security may be bought or sold by a principal or employee of Eggerss Capital before Eggerss Capitals clients' accounts have had the opportunity to make such transactions, as appropriate. To prevent conflicts of interest, all employees of Eggerss Capital must comply with the Firm's Supervisory Procedures, which imposes restrictions on the purchase or sale of securities for their own accounts and the accounts of certain affiliated persons.

The Supervisory Procedures require that all trades made by employees or related persons of Eggerss Capital, who make recommendations or participate in the determination of which recommendation shall be made, will require review for all securities transactions by the designated person responsible (except transactions in investment company securities and/or other exempt transactions). Eggerss Capital will also maintain quarterly reports on all personal securities transactions, except transactions in investment company securities and/or other exempt transactions. Further, the Supervisory Procedures impose certain policies and procedures concerning the misuse of material non-public information that are designed to prevent insider trading by any officer, partner, or associated person of Eggerss Capital.

Purchase and sale of specific securities by employees of Eggerss Capital are prohibited when there are client programs active in those securities, unless employees participate in the aggregated trading of securities. Executions for clients will always receive priority. The officers and employees of Eggerss Capital report transactions monthly.

Individual securities are selected to provide diversification among economic sectors and industries, which are chosen to achieve the desired balance between expected risk and expected return. Transactions of an unusual nature are discussed with clients before execution.

Notwithstanding the above, Eggerss Capital, and/or its officers, directors or employees may purchase for themselves, similar or different securities as are purchased or recommended for investment advisory clients of Eggerss Capital, and those different securities or transactions may be affected or recommended for different investment advisory clients of Eggerss Capital.

A copy of the Firm's Code of Ethics may be obtained from Mr. Eggerss.

B. Recommendations Involving Material Financial Interests

The Firm does not recommend to clients any securities in which the Firm or its personnel has a material financial interest.

C. Investing in the Same Securities as Clients

On occasion, Eggerss Capital may invest in securities products that it also recommends to clients, which presents a conflict of interest. However, as a preventative measure, all client transactions will be conducted and implemented before or at the same time as any such transaction relating to any personal accounts of Eggerss Capital or any affiliated person of Eggerss Capital. Any trading by Eggerss Capital personnel is controlled by Eggerss Capital's Code of Ethics. A copy of such Code will be available upon request.

ITEM 12: BROKERAGE PRACTICES

A. Selecting Brokerage Firms

1. Research and Other Soft Dollar Benefits

The Firm has not entered into any soft dollar contracts but may receive certain services and research from its custodians, Charles Schwab (“Schwab”), Fidelity, and TD Ameritrade, which could be considered soft dollars. Unless a Client instructs Eggerss Capital otherwise, the Firm may place orders for the execution of transactions with or through Schwab, Fidelity, TD Ameritrade, or a broker/dealer as Eggerss Capital may recommend, and complying with Section 28(e) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, may pay a commission on transactions in excess of the amount of commission another broker or dealer would have charged. Eggerss Capital will select such brokers that can affect fixed income transactions at the best price and execution under the prevailing circumstances. In managing investment portfolios, Eggerss Capital acts in a manner in keeping with what it understands and believes to be the best interests of the client.

There may other benefits from recommending these institutions such as software and other technology that (i) provide access to client account data (such as trade confirmations and account statements); (ii) facilitate trade execution and allocate aggregated trade orders for multiple client accounts; (iii) provide research, pricing and other market data; (iv) facilitate payment of fees from its clients' accounts; and (v) assist with back-office functions, recordkeeping and client reporting.

Other services may include, but are not limited to, performance reporting, financial planning, contact management systems, third party research, publications, access to educational conferences, roundtables and webinars, practice management resources, access to consultants and other third party service providers who provide a wide array of business related services and technology with whom Eggerss Capital may contract directly. In addition, custodians, mutual fund companies and other investment companies may sponsor events, to provide ongoing due diligence for these providers and their portfolio managers/products, which Eggerss Capital may attend.

Based upon the receipt of such services and information, we may have an incentive to select a broker-dealer based upon our desire to receive these services rather than receiving best execution for you. We have an obligation to seek best execution for you. In seeking best execution, the determinative factor is not the lowest possible commission cost but whether the transaction represents the best qualitative execution, taking into consideration the full range of a Broker-Dealer’s services including the value of research provided, execution capability, commission rates, and responsiveness. Therefore, we will seek competitive commission rates, but we may not obtain the lowest possible commission rates for account transactions. Our CCO reviews accounts quarterly to determine that the appropriate fees were charged by the client. He also performs overall reviews regarding best execution periodically.

2. Brokerage for Client Referrals

Eggerss Capital does not consider whether it receives referrals from broker/dealers when it selects or recommends broker/dealers to its clients. The Firm bases its recommendations on the client's needs and what is in the best interests of the clients when it recommends or selects a broker/dealer.

3. Directed Brokerage

Eggerss Capital does not maintain agreements with referring brokers regarding its internal allocation of brokerage transactions. However, all or a sizable portion of a particular clients' brokerage transaction business may be directed to a particular broker if the client has directed, agreed or stipulated us to do so. Eggerss Capital may place all or a portion of the transactions with a broker with whom the client has a special advisory or consulting relationship.

With regard to client directed brokerage, Eggerss Capital is required to disclose that it may be unable to negotiate commissions, block or batch client orders or otherwise achieve the benefits described above, including best execution, if clients limit the Firm's brokerage discretion. Directed brokerage commission rates may be higher than the rates the Firm might pay for transactions in non-directed accounts. Also, clients that restrict the Firm's brokerage discretion may be disadvantaged in obtaining allocations of new issues of securities that the Firm purchases or recommends for purchase in other clients' accounts. It is the Firm's policy that such accounts not participate in allocations of new issues of securities obtained through brokers and dealers other than those designated by the client. As a general rule, Eggerss Capital will encourage each client to compare the possible costs or disadvantages of directed brokerage against the value of the custodial or other services provided by the broker to the client in exchange for the directed broker designation.

B. Aggregation of Trades

When Eggerss Capital trades the same security in more than one client account, the Firm will generally attempt to batch or "bunch" the trades in order to create a "block transaction." Generally, buying and selling in blocks helps create trading efficiencies, prompt attention and desired price execution. Eggerss Capital will place all, or substantially all, transactions to purchase or sell common stocks with the client's "directed" broker, when applicable. Whenever possible, Eggerss Capital will attempt to batch or aggregate trades for clients who use the same directed brokers in order to create a "block transaction."

The commission amount and per share commission rate will differ among clients with directed brokerage relationships due to the dollar value and the size (number of shares) of the trade for each account, and the total relationship between the client and their broker. Because each client may differ in portfolio size, investment objective, equity exposure and the extent of the relationship with their broker, Eggerss Capital does not negotiate commission discounts on the block transaction itself.

Such transactions are placed with a broker who may have provided manager selection services, performance measurement services, asset allocation services, or a variety of other consulting or monitoring assistance, all with the specific knowledge and full approval of the client.

C. ERISA

If authorized by the Plan Sponsor, the Adviser has the ability to debit fees directly from the Plan Sponsor's bank account through the submission of a billing file to the plan custodian, however, the Adviser does not have authority to possess or take actual custody of clients' funds or securities. Plan Sponsors and plan participants should receive at least quarterly statements from the recordkeeper and Plan Sponsors and participants should carefully review such statements.

ITEM 13: REVIEW OF ACCOUNTS

A. Periodic Reviews

Karl Eggerss, President, will review client accounts on a regular basis (which will usually be no less than quarterly) to ensure that the investments are: (i) suitable to the respective client's investment objectives; (ii) meet that client's quality standards; and (iii) to make sure that client investment objectives are still pertinent to the managed account arrangement.

B. Factors for Review

More frequent reviews may be triggered by material changes in variables such as the client's individual circumstances or the market economic or political environment.

C. Content and Frequency of Regular Reports Provided to Clients

The Firm does not provide regular reports to its clients except by request. However, clients do receive brokerage transaction confirmations and statements from the custodian of the account either monthly or quarterly, depending on the custodian and depending on the activity in the prior month.

ITEM 14: CLIENT REFERRALS AND OTHER COMPENSATION

Eggerss Capital may enter into referral arrangements with any individual or entity wherein Eggerss Capital either compensates or receives compensation in connection with such person or entity for the referral. However, said individual or entity has to be a Registered Investment Adviser and will be listed below in section B.

A. Third Party Compensation

Eggerss Capital does not receive any economic benefit from any third party for providing investment advice or other advisory services to clients.

B. Referrals

Eggerss Capital has entered into an agreement with Investment Advisory Group, LLC (“IAG”), a Texas registered investment adviser, whereby IAG will refer potential investment advisory clients to Eggerss Capital. If the clients become clients of Eggerss Capital, IAG will receive a portion of the fee collected by Eggerss Capital. Clients referred by IAG will not pay higher fees due to the referral arrangement.

ITEM 15: CUSTODY

Eggerss Capital does not maintain custody of client assets, including securities and cash. However, we may be deemed to have constructive custody of your accounts if we have the ability to deduct your quarterly fees from the custodian. We primarily use Charles Schwab, Fidelity, and TD Ameritrade, as the custodian for client accounts.

Eggerss Capital Management may be considered to have custody of certain Client 401(K) accounts. Eggerss Capital Management has a surprise audit performed annually for these accounts.

Eggerss Capital clients should receive at least quarterly statements from the broker/dealer, bank or other qualified custodian that holds and maintains clients' investment assets. Eggerss Capital urges clients to carefully review such statements and compare such official custodial records to any reports that it may provide. The reports may vary from custodial statements, based on accounting procedures, reporting dates, or valuation methodologies of certain securities. If clients have any questions on the statements or reports, they should contact the custodian or Eggerss Capital.

ITEM 16: INVESTMENT DISCRETION

A. Non-ERISA

Eggerss Capital receives discretionary authority from the client at the outset of an advisory relationship to select the identity and amount of securities to be bought or sold. Eggerss Capital will supervise and direct the investments of the client accounts subject to such limitations as the client may impose in writing. Eggerss Capital, as agent and attorney-in-fact with respect to the client's account, without prior consultation with the client, may, (a) direct the purchase, sell, exchange, conversion, and otherwise trade in stocks, bonds and other securities including money market instruments, and (b) direct the amount of securities purchased, sold, exchanged, and otherwise traded. In all cases, however, such discretion is to be exercised in a manner consistent with the stated investment objectives for the particular client account.

When selecting securities and determining amounts, Eggerss Capital observes the investment policies, limitations and restrictions of the clients for which it advises. Clients may place restrictions on the type of securities or even on specific securities themselves. All such restrictions must be provided in writing.

B. ERISA

As further described in Item 4 above, under 3(21) Fiduciary Services, the Adviser exercises limited discretion over Plan assets in that it makes investment recommendations to Plan Sponsors, but the Plan Sponsor may or may not implement the recommendation(s).

In performing discretionary management services, the Adviser is acting as an "investment manager" (as that term is defined in Section 3(38) of ERISA) and as a fiduciary to the Plan and shall act with the care, skill, prudence and diligence under the circumstances then prevailing that a prudent man acting in a capacity and familiar with such matters would use in the conduct of an enterprise of like character and with like aims.

ITEM 17: VOTING CLIENT SECURITIES

Eggerss Capital does not take any action or render any advice with respect to the voting of proxies solicited by, or with respect to, the issuers of any securities held in the client accounts.

ITEM 18: FINANCIAL INFORMATION

Registered investment advisers are required in this Item to provide clients with certain financial information or disclosures about Eggerss Capital's financial condition.

A. Balance Sheet

Eggerss Capital does not require nor solicit prepayment of investment advisory fees which would result in custody issues. Therefore, the Firm is not required to include a balance sheet with this brochure.

B. Financial Conditions
